Notes

Revised map April 2009. POW is a typical urban wood with plenty of dog walker paths, some contour detail, confusing open areas including a road crossing and estate routes for the longer courses linking it with Foxlydiate wood. The Blue will cross the dual carriage way on two very high concrete bridges which have caused problems in the past for vertigo sufferers. The Green will avoid these bridges.

Pub of the evening. You will pass the Foxlydiate on the way from the A448 on the left as you return. Passable pub grub but a big rambling place.
